ATELIER DU NOIR
presents

Oneshot:
The School Girl's Glasses

Author:
Nii Michiyo

Credit page done by Valdien
Inspired by Charlotte

atelierdunoir.aphelion.ga | join us at discord.gg/8RdbrG3

Raws Elemhunter
Translator Jel
Proofreader Valdien
Cleaner Donna
Redrawer d4td
Typesetting Rui
Quality Checks Suga & Jel

We're looking for redrawers! Please apply!

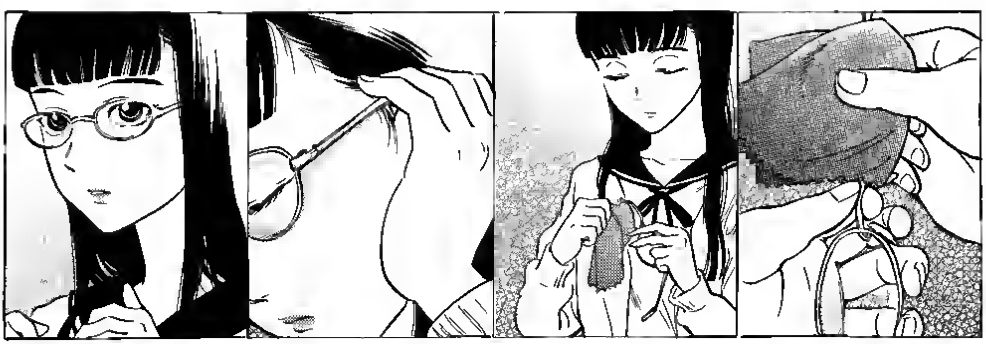
The School girl's glasses

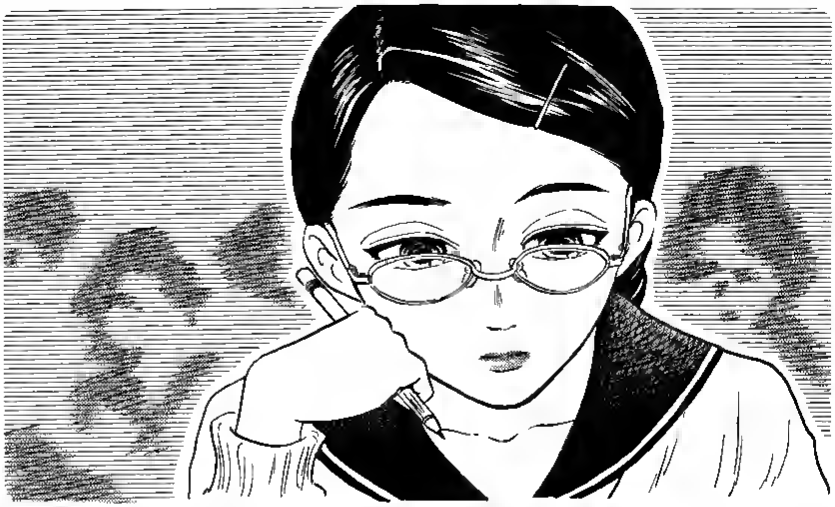
When people think of me, it feels strange that they have an image of me wearing glasses.

It's been a year since I've started wearing them.

Nii Michiyo

getting ready



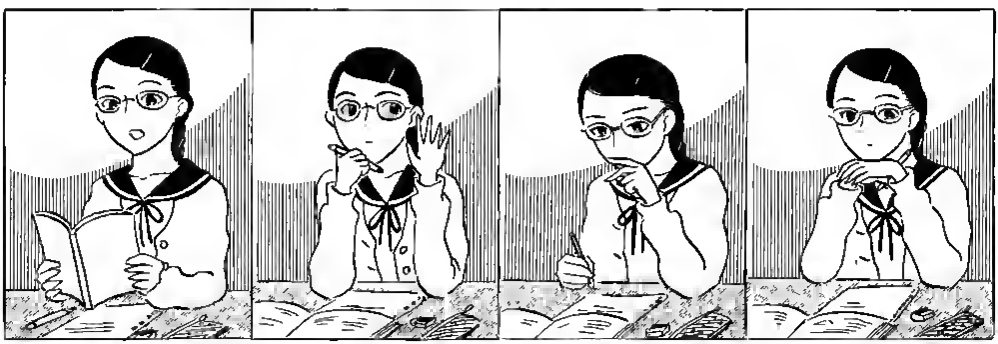


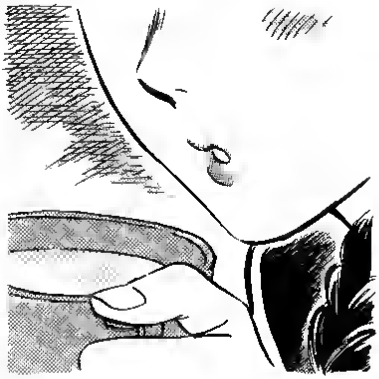
There are students that get poor grades in math, but perfect grades in language arts.

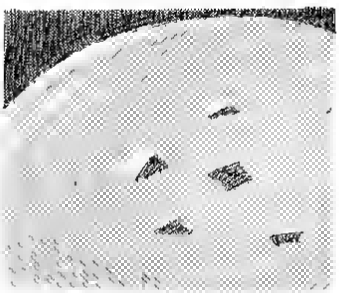
I don't have any area of specialty that particularly stands out. I'm average in all of them.

I think it's boring.

studying







I prefer winter to summer.

I like it because of the steaming, hot drinks that warm my heart.

eating and drinking

If I were to apply the knowledge and experience that I've gained so far,
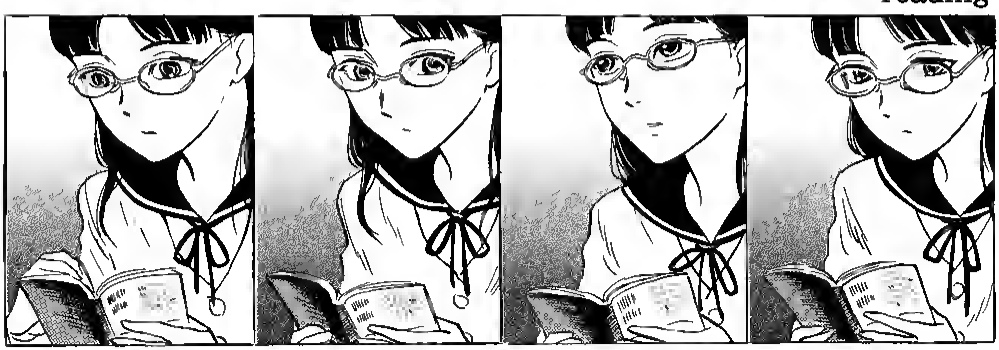
I wonder what would come of it.

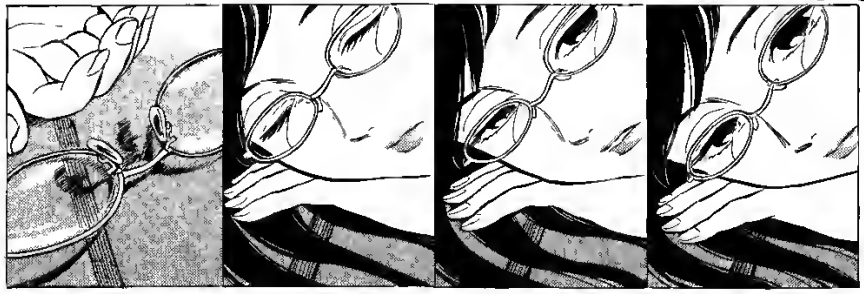
Obtaining something in exchange for vision.

reading

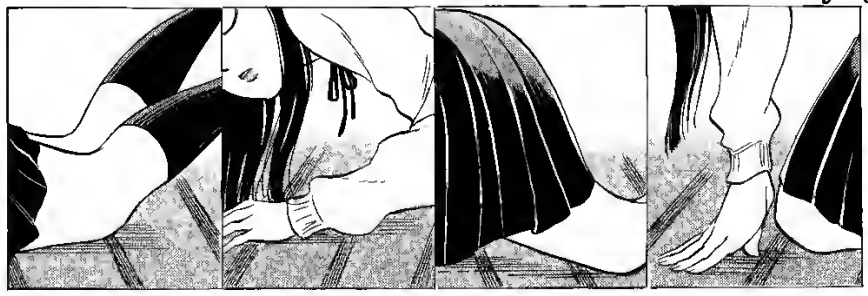


If I were to fall in love with someone to the extent where I'd even give up my life for him...
Would I be content with that?
The girl in my class has a smile that's ever so radiant, reflecting in my eyes.
In other words, I have no confidence.
Just when will I be a perfect me?
(A perfect me has a bit of an occult ring to it.)

sleeping



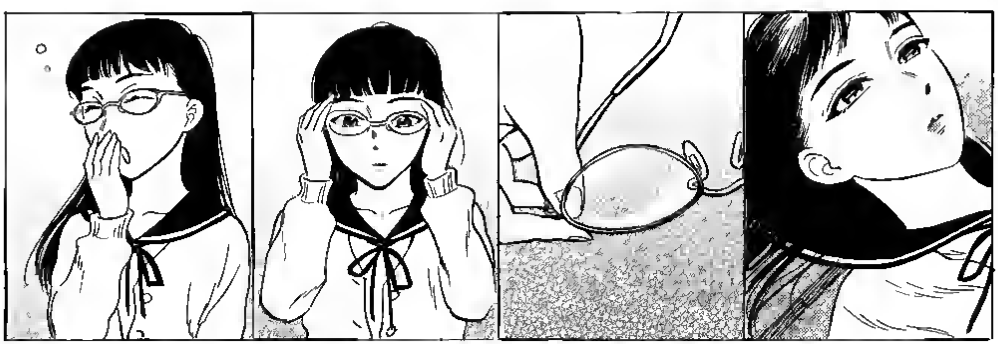
lying



I often become sentimental, contemplating on such things because of my glasses.

Glasses are the mark of a disability.

waking up



End